BARK RUN DOWN BY Cape Cod-Crew Safe,

Captain William Meyers master and principal owner of the bark, said he was about 35 miles off Cape Cod and all kinds through that port for the heading for Boston in a thick fog just before 7 p. m. Friday when he heard warning whistles. He answered with his fog horn, but almost immediately the big stem of the battleship struck his vessel, tearing away her bow. The bark began to fill and after a brief examination of the damage, Captain Meyers decided to abandon her. He was getting ready to clear away his boats when a boat from the battleship appeared and took off the entire crew, ten minutes after the collision occurred. No one was injured. In the hope that the bark might remain affoat, the battleship was kept in In the hope that the bark might remain affect, the battleship was kept in the vicinity all night and cruised about yestterday in the fog searching for her. When Captain Meyers was satisfied, after finding a comforter from his cabin floating in the water, that his vessel had gone down, the Nebraska has headed for this port, arriving off Boston light early today.

The Mabel I. Meyers sailed from Barbados July 6 for this city and Portland with a cargo of molasses. She was built in 1891 at Searsport. Maine, and was 168 feet in length with a net tonnage of 568. The Nebraska was bound from Rockport for Newport to engage in the fiset manoeuvres. She sustained no injury.
